LOCAL INTELLIGENCE.

THE SLEIGHING -The notification of the Chief of Police, published yesterday in the Star seemed to check the sport on the avenue, which, for some weeks, has been enjoyed almost daily by thousands of our citizens of both sexes-for the ladies crowded down upon the street, and stretched their graceful necks out ever the curb-stones, bending their brilliant. if not soft eyes, as eagerly up or down the avenue as the goers might be streaking, as did the men and boys, who, more excited. lined the middle of the street at the hour when the fast ones were expected to show off their paces. The Baltimore horses were taken home yesterday afternoon, having been beaten, (according to the estimate of the Washingtonians, who may, by the bye, have been somewhat too partial to home, in forming this judg-

The truth is, the gentlemen from Baltimore drove their horses over here (forty miles) at a spanking pace, after some three weeks of constant and killing sleighing; and ventured to encounter the fast horses of this vicinity in five or six hours after reaching Washington. With proper rest, we have no doubt that they would have come off easy victors, knowing, as we do, that Mr. Burns's Pilot has certainly made his mile in 2.36, and that the colt of Mr. McDonald, which was driven with Felix, (one of the fastest horses in America.) cost his owner, not long since, $2,700, having beaten Felix in a square race. " Poor Old Paddy, the sorrel pacing horse of Mr. James Roach, of Alexandria County, Va , under the circumstances, on Tuesday, "laid out cold" the 2.36 horse of Mr Burns. Writing of our old friend Paddy, (who, like ourself, hails from the kingdom of Cooney,) we are reminded of the fact that he has more "horse sense" than any other piece of horse flesh we ever knew. Thus, when his owner leaves him standing on a cold night without tying-a useless precaution with him-on feeling chilled, he will pace around a square or two without a driver; invariably returning to the spot at which Mr. R left him-doing so half a dozen times in the course of an hour. The horse-men have it, that if our friend Jim keeps him out at night beyond what he conceives to be a reasonable hour, when he comes within reach of his teeth, Paddy seizes him by the lappel and gives him a friendly shake, by way of reminding him that it was about time to go home. We won't wouch for this latter story, as we will for the other. How many wives there are in the world who would give gold to have their husband's possess so considerate horses, as most of the "horse men" believe " Poor Old Pad-

A double team, composed of Tobey Tramp, belonging to Mr. A. Newton, of Alexandria, and Col. J. C. Berrett's mare Julia, (one of the finest animals that ever trotted inside of three minutes.) are said to have "taken down" the famous Felix team from Baltimore. Had our fast friends from that city remained here over to-day, another pair of goers-Mr. Arnold's grey mare and Mr. McCullum's big black horse-would have been poked at 'em, preparations to that end having been duly made. Being any thing in the world but a fast 'un ourself, as a matter of course, we professionally deprecate racing on the street. But, to tell the naked truth, about the ugliest thing we have seen in the newspapers of late, is the notification of our Chief of Police, that all fast driving in the streets of Washington must cease during the continuance of the present so enticing season for the harmless sport

We cannot leave this subject without saying that the fast party from Baltimore, whose splendid turn-outs and smashing teams added so much to the enjoyment of those in Washington who love a fine horse-and who with a soul in him does not?-by their genial and gentlemenly bearing when among us, have made and left many friends and admirers

THE FIGHT .- We find in the Tribune, received last night, Mr. Greeley's account of the circumstances attending the affair between Mr. Rust, of Arkansas, and himself, which we insert for the information of our readers. As in the publication of the original statement of the affair we avoided the comments of any one upon it, and declined making any ourself under the circumstances, so also do we refrain from publishing Mr. Greeley's comments on it; presenting our readers simply with his statement of the facts transpiring in the course of the affair on the street. Thus he writes: "I was conversing with two gentlemen on my way down from the Capitol after the adjournment of the House this afternoon, when a stranger requested a word with me. I stopped, and my friends wenton. The stranger, who appeared in the prime of life, six feet high, and who must weigh over two hundred,

"Is your name Greeley?"

" Yes.

"Are you a non-combatant?"

"That is according to circumstances." "The words were hardly out of my mouth, when he struck me a stunning blow on the right side of my head, and followed it by two or three more, as rapidly as possible. My hands were still in my great coat pockets, for I had no idea that he was about to strike He staggered me against the fence of the walk from the Capitol to the Avenue, but did not get me down. I rallied as soon as possible, and saw him standing several feet from me, with several persons standing or rushing in between us. I asked, "Who is this man? I don't know hime," and understood him to answer, with an imprecation, "You'll know me soon enough," or "You'll know me hereafter," when he turned, and went down towards the street. No one answered my inquiry directly, but some friends soon came up, who told me that my assailant was Albert Rust, M. C., from Arkansas. He gave no hint of any cause or pretext he may have had for this assault."

After some comments on the character of the resolution of Mr. Rust, Mr. Greeley, continuing, writes that his assailant "turned and walked down along; I followed, conversing with two friends. Cr ssing Four-and-ahalf street, they dropped behind to speak with acquaintances, and I, walking along toward the National Hotel, soon found myself in the midst of a huddle of strangers. One of these turned short upon me-I saw it was my former assailant-and said 'De you know me now? I answered, 'Yes; you are Rust of Arkansas.' He said something of what he would do if I were a combatant, and I replied that I claimed no exemption on that account. He now drew a heavy cane, which I had not seen before, and struck a pretty heavy blow at my head, which I caught on my left arm, with no other damage than a severe bruise. He was trying to strike again, and I was endeavoring to close with him, when several persons rushed between and separated us I did net strike him at all, nor lay a finger on him; but it certainly would have been a pleasure to me, had I been able, to perform the public duty of knocking him down, I cannot mistake the movement of his hand on the avenue and am sure it must have been toward a pistol in his belt. And the crowd which surrounded us were nearly all Southern, as he doubtless knew before he renewed his attack

EXPORTING ICE TO BOSTON.—The late severe cold has enabled our ice dealers to lay in a stock of ice which for purity and firmness can fairly compete with the famed Long Pond or Whenham Lake" ice. Pettibone has been putting in some lately of this description, and at least ten inches in thickness. It is stated sportively about town that Mr. Pettibone is designing to send a cargo of ice to Boston. It 18 true, we believe, that Mr. P. is making preparation to export ice to cities farther south less favored than we, in the matter of ice raising but presume he will deem it a bad speculation so send ice northward notwithstanding the firmness of our crop.

THE REVISING CODIFIERS .- This Board met last night in the Aldermen's Chamber. On motion of Mr. Carrington, Mr. Polk was called to the Chair; and on motion of Mr. Edmonston, Mr. Carrington was appointed sec-

Mr. Carrington then read a letter from the Codifiers, suggesting that the Board appoint a committee of four of the most experienced members to consider the work before it was printed.

On motion of Mr. Edmonston, the sense of the Board was taken upon the subject, and it was not agreed to.

Mr Martin suggested many changes which he desired to see made. He would, at a subsequent meeting present his views more fully On motion of Mr. Edmonston, the Board then adjourned to meet on Saturday, February 9th, at 72 o'clock p. m., at the same place.

POLICE INTELLIGENCE.—There was quite a busy time last night, at Justice Hollingshead's office, with some riot and assault and battery cases. Alexander Eggleston was brought up for riot in the house of Charley Frankenberger, and was committed to jail.

William Minor, a smart looking colored gentleman, who has a bad habit of beating his wife, was brought up for assault and battery, and committed to jail; as also was Thomas and David Holland for the same offence. W. H. Thomas, colored. for profanity, paid fine and costs; James H. Smith, for the same, was dismissed It will be seen by the advertisement in another column that this office is open from 8 a. m to 12 p m. every day, thus affording an opportunity to the laboring class to have their cases tried after working hours, and citizens and strangers can also between those hours always find some of the city police to attend to their requirements.

CORTEZ, THE CONQUEROR. - This new American tragedy, from the pen of our fellow-citizen, Mr. Lewis F. Thomas, will be read tonight by the author at Odd Fellows' Hall. Mr. T. is already known as a poet, of no inconsiderable merit, and we doubt not that his reputation will be widely increased by the present production. Readings, by authors, of their own works, are always attractive; and, in the general dearth of dramatic literature, an American tragedy should be an object of real curiosity. Mr. T. is said to be an excellent reader of other men's works; may he do justice to his own.

THE "Goose QUESTION" SETTLED .- Quite a crowd of spectators and those interested was collected at Justice Goddard's this morning, to see the trial of a complicated goose case, John Delany charged John Collins with stealing two geese, which John Collins indignantly denied, and produced such a cloud of witnesses to back his denial that the other John was fairly sworn out of the field, and the latter John triumphantly retained the geese. Both the Johns were, however, bound over by Justice Goddard to keep the peace towards

CALLAN, Agent, Washington, The New Theory Vindicated .- The reports of the City Inspectors of New York, Boston and Philadelphia, also Baltimore and Washington, show unmistakably that the theory of the distinguished Prof. CHABLES DE GRATH, regarding the treatment of a certain class of allments, so very common in America, (through the variable-ness of our climate and the irregularities of our people,) has been fully demonstrated and sustained. There has been less mortality, and unquestionably less pain and suffering, since the introduction of the "ELECTRIC OIL" than before, by a large per cent. The vital forces and the ca-pacity of resistance in the human structure have been greatly increased by its use, and there remains not the shadow of a doubt that the tendency to CONSUMPTION

TELEGRAPHIC NEWS.

FROM THE ASSOCIATED PRESS BY HOUSE PRINTING TELEGRAPH.

ONE WEEK LATER FROM EUROPE.

Arrival of the Steamer Arabia. HALIFAX, Jan. 31 .- The Cunard steamship Arabia, which sailed from Liverpool on the morning of the 19th, arrived here this evening, bringing 107 passengers. The steamer Asia arrived out on the 13th. and the steamer Baltic on the 17th. The steamer Union did not touch at Southampton on her passage out.

There had been intense interest caused by the news from Vienna, which was at first unfavorable. When the Austrian Ambassador handed the allied note to Nesselrode, he said he was not authorized to enter into a discussion, but if the note was not accepted unconditionally before the 18th, he and all the Austrian Embassy must leave St. Petersburg. To prevent this, Nesselrode communicated with Vienna direct, and Prince Gortschakoff at Vienna had a talk with Count Buol, in which the former produced a memorandum expressing the general inclination of Russia to negotrate, but proposing certain alterations.

Count Buol received the document, but inasmuch as it did not contain the unconditional acceptance of the propositions, Austria could not reply without the concurrence of France and England. The ambassadors of these powers were accordingly sent to Lendon and Paris, and a reply was received that the Western powers had no motive to change the decision already carefully considered; and further, that if Russia did not accept by the 18th, Count Esterhazy and Austria would immediately seek to obtain the assured cooperation of

While every one in Western Europe was on the qui vive, the London Times' Vienna correspondent telegraphed under date of Wednesday, the 16th, at 10 A. M., that Russia has unconditionally accepted the propositions of the German diet.
